Managing Mosquitoes

Mosquito spraying will take place this week in two sections of Dublin where mosquitoes tested positive for West Nile Virus. Franklin County Public Health plans the following spraying:

- Wednesday, August 12 Central - between Brand Road and Pilot Road, from the City's western border to the Scioto River
- Thursday, August 13 North - north of Brand Road, from Hyland City Road to the western border of the Scioto River

All spraying is scheduled to start at 8:30 p.m. and is weather permitting.

Irish boxing, Richard Thompson and more at the Dublin Irish Festival – PHOTOS	http://www.bizjournals.com/columbus/blog/2015/08/irish-boxing-richard-thompson-and-more-at-the.html	Columbus Business First	8.3.15	My first question when I got to the Irish boxing showcase that was making its debut at the 2015 Dublin Irish Festival was, "What exactly is Irish boxing?" Well, it turns out there's not an Irish style of boxing that was going to be on display. Rather, as event emcee Jeremy Loper explained to me, Irish fairs and festivals often feature amateur boxing showcases so organizers were just trying to add a bit of further Irish flair to the annual Dublin festival.
Concert review Richard Thompson: English act enlivens Irish Festival	http://www.dispatch.com/content/stories/life_and_entertainment/2015/08/03/concert-review-richard-thompson.html	The Columbus Dispatch	8.3.15	The irony of an Englishman headlining the Celtic Rock stage for Sunday night's Dublin Irish Festival was not lost on Richard Thompson, who closed it with passion, panache and a well-designed 85-minute solo set.

Vote would put Worthington zoning issue on November ballot	http://www.dispatch.com/content/stories/local/2015/08/03/vote-would-put-zoning-issue-on-nov-ballot.html	The Columbus Dispatch	8.3.15	Worthington now has a 23-day waiting period before ordinances passed by the council take effect. That's how much time disgruntled residents have to gather signatures and file them with the city clerk to seek a vote in the next election. Keep Worthington Beautiful wants to extend that period to 60 days for ordinances amending the city's zoning code or changing the zoning for any property. It also would prevent the council from passing zoning ordinances as emergency measures. Developer Charlie Ruma has had his share of challenges from city councils and residents. It took two years of changes before his plans to redevelop the former Riviera Golf Club in Dublin were approved. There is no question that a referendum would create a delay and cost a lot of money for both the landowner and the developer, Ruma said. The cost to win a referendum is enormous

Construction is expected to begin at Interstate 270 and state Route 315 on Monday, Aug. 3, representing the third major intersection project taking place concurrently on the north side of Columbus.

Volunteers honor lost loved ones at Dublin Irish Festival	http://nbc4i.com/2015/08/01/volunteers-honor-lost-loved-ones-at-dublin-irish-festival/	NBC4	8.1.15	A lot of heavy lifting goes on at the Dublin Irish festival especially by the athletes who participate in the Highland Games. But a good portion of the lifting is done by the 1,300 volunteers who help make the event possible.
School enrollment numbers spiking in Dublin; up elsewhere	http://www.dispatch.com/content/stories/local/2015/08/02/numbers-spiking-in-dublin-up-elsewhere.html	The Columbus Dispatch	8.2.15	The growth in Hilliard and Olentangy isn't new. Officials in both districts say those figures are on par with previous summers. But Dublin administrators say the influx is larger than they've seen in years. They anticipate more than 700 new students this fall — almost triple the number of newcomers from the 2014-15 school year.
Request to demolish Dublin farmhouse pits restoration vs. preservation	http://www.dispatch.com/content/stories/home_and_garden/2015/08/02/01-stand-or-fall.html	The Columbus Dispatch	8.2.15	The couple, owners of 101 Beer Kitchen restaurants in Dublin and Gahanna, hired the Wing Inspection Group in Grove City to examine the property. Wing concluded that the home could be repaired but at a cost that "could far exceed the economic value of the home."
Miamisburg hotel plans renovations	http://www.bizjournals.com/dayton/news/2015/08/03/miamisburg-hotel-plans-renovations.html	Dayton Business Journal	8.3.15	Hotel officials could not comment on the project. The hotel, which is under new ownership of Dublin-based iHospitality Hotel Group, expects the project to cost about $328,500 and could entail internal renovations and additions to the conference spaces, according to county documents.

Signal Operation Change at Post Road/Frantz Road Intersection	http://dublinohiousa.gov/newsroom/signal-operation-change-at-post-roadfrantz-road-intersection/	City of Dublin Newsroom	8.3.15	Beginning the morning of Tuesday, August 4, 2015 there will be a traffic signal operation change at the intersection of Post Road and Frantz Road. The sequence and timing of the traffic signal will be modified to better accommodate vehicular and pedestrian traffic.
Dublin panel rejects request to demolish 1880 farmhouse	http://www.dispatch.com/content/stories/local/2015/08/05/dublin-panel-refuses-demolition-of-historic-farmhouse.html	The Columbus Dispatch	8.5.15	A Dublin architectural panel has denied a couple's request to demolish an 1880 farmhouse in the city's historic district so they can build a house there. City planners had recommended that the board reject the request, saying the applicants, Jess and Thad Kittrell, had not met the criteria for demolishing a house in the historic district.
Nonprofit coalition helps those with disabilities enjoy kayaking	http://www.dispatch.com/content/stories/life_and_entertainment/2015/08/04/1-kayaking-for-all.html	The Columbus Dispatch	8.4.15	Since its founding in 1992, the nonprofit coalition known as TAASC (as in task) has sought to foster a sense of athletic independence in its members through a host of activities including sailing and snow skiing. The experience has also proved empowering for Laura Krietemeyer. Tumors necessitated the removal of her right leg a decade ago, leaving the Dublin resident with severe doubts about her future abilities.
