Dublin once allowed riders to simply show up and join the parade, but starting in 2011, the city required registration (which ended June 24) for riders to participate. The event is open to ages 6 to 13. "The parade used to be much more loosely organized, but we wanted everything to be as safe as possible," said Mary Jo DiSalvo, an event-marketing administrator in Dublin.

Dublin's Bike Brigade is escorted by adults, and one advantage of registration is that every participant gets a credential with his or her name and a parade logo to attach to the bike.

Officers in Dublin have identified three people connected to a recent string of thefts. In early June, Dublin Police received more than 30 calls reporting items stolen from vehicles and homes, as well as incidences of vandalism. These crimes mostly took place in the evening hours. A potential suspect led officers to a stolen digital camera, sunglasses and a firearm. All of the items were connected to recent theft cases.

The Ohio Department of Transportation is making major upgrades to the 270/33 interchange, which will improve safety and efficiency. The realignment of Riverside Drive, which will include a new roundabout at the Riverside Drive/SR 161 intersection, is also underway. This is a City of Dublin project scheduled to be complete in Fall 2016.

Distracted Driving Simulator Community Days <http://dublinohiou.sa.gov/distracted-driving/> City of Dublin Newsroom 7.6.15

Dublin Police are taking one of the department's distracted driving simulators on the road this summer. The simulators provide a safe, but realistic, experience that shows the dangers of distracted driving. During the school year, the simulators are used in various Dublin City Schools buildings to teach students about the dangers of distracted driving. The summer tour is designed to expose more community members to the educational tool and to save more lives.

Dublin will pursue relationships with two cities in Japan and possibly others. Dublin City Council last week directed staff members to move forward on creating friendship-city relationships with Mashiko and Hagamachi, Japan. Council members previously requested staff to look into sister city relationships with cities overseas. According to a staff memo to council, sister city relationships are a long-term, broad-based partnership that "plan and implement cooperative activities and exchanges in cultural, educational, municipal/ technical, business and humanitarian fields.

Police have charged three suspects in connection with a robbery at Heartland Bank on Frantz Road in Dublin. Bill Bartley, 41, is charged with robbery. Daniel Morris, 28, and Cody Hatfield, 20, are charged with complicity to commit robbery. The robbery occurred at about 4 p.m. Wednesday, July 8. The trio appeared in Franklin County court Thursday morning. Police say Bartley walked into the bank and an undercover officer witnessed Bartley hand the teller a note demanding, "money now, no banded bills, no dye packs." The tellers were told to step back from the counter and police say Bartley was given an undisclosed amount of money and he fled on foot.

GoSun recently raised over $550,000 through a Kickstarter campaign for its new solar grill, a fuel-free oven that is capable of cooking day or night. The initial goal was $140,000 and the tidal wave of support speaks to the public's confidence in GoSun's technology, which differentiates itself from other solar cookers in several ways. Although GoSun outsources much of its manufacturing (the specialized vacuum tubes are not manufactured anywhere in the U.S.) some products and all of their prototypes are built using either their own workshop or makerspaces. "BuildMore has been very instrumental in the creation of GoSun," Sherwin said of the makerspace located in Dublin. "Brian Blum is just a fantastic production engineer."

The cast and crew of “The Removals” is racing to Dublin’s “Field of Corn” sculpture to shoot a scene before the thunderstorm hits. As lightning pierces the horizon and claps of thunder boom, Nicholas Rombes, director of “The Removals” — a micro-budget film project from independent boutique book publisher Two Dollar Radio that branched out into film production in 2013 — guides actor Jeff Wood, who plays the film’s male lead, Mason. Though the crew never intended for this scene to take place during a burgeoning, violent storm, it turned out to be one of the film’s best.

Propane, also called LP gas, is a safe, economical, clean-burning and versatile fuel when properly used. Regardless of the type of energy you use, safety is extremely important. An understanding of how your delivery system and appliances work, and what to do in case of a leak or other safety-related emergency are extremely important when dealing with propane as with electricity, natural gas, fuel oil and gasoline.

The good news, Meglich said, is the lull in drilling is giving the oil and gas industry some time to chip away at a shortage of pipelines and processing facilities that have caused back-ups of oil and gas at wellheads in eastern Ohio. For now, oil and gas companies are working to become as cost-effective as possible in their drilling operations, said Craig Kasper, CEO of Hull & Associates Inc. The Dublin-based engineering and project development firm provides a number of services to energy companies operating in the Utica and Marcellus shale plays.

A new kiosk at the school board's headquarters in West Palm Beach allows employees to step inside a private, 8-by-7 enclosure and quickly consult with a medical professional. The booth lets people receive medical advice through its touchscreens, medical-screening devices and videoconferencing capabilities. The kiosk, known as a "HealthSpot," is meant to let doctors and nurses remotely diagnose patients. It's all thanks to a partnership between the school district, Nicklaus Children's Hospital and UnitedHealthcare.
